

Dr. Mike Stokes

Department of Biology

Research Interests:

- I am currently involved in three projects:
 - Developing and assessing devices for mitigating wildlife-agricultural conflict in sub-Saharan Africa
 - Developing and testing social-psychological models for effective conservation organizational development in indigenous societies
 - Investigating contrasting roles of mega- and micro-herbivores in structuring plant communities in African savanna systems (we're just starting on this project)