Other Business

▪Janet Applin informed the Committee members that due to a time crunch, the names of the nominees for the College Outstanding Graduate Student were addressed at the March 27 Administrative Council meeting. All departments were represented and the department heads made the choice this year. (Normally the CEBS Curriculum Committee chooses the winner.) This year's winner was Daryl Hagan who is in the EALR Doctoral Program. Janet said she has asked those in Graduate Studies to consider having two separate awards next year, one for master's and one for doctoral.

▪Janet also explained the Colonnade Program.

There being no further business, the meeting adjourned at 3:30.
