The Western SCHOLAR

THE SPIRIT OF SCHOLARSHIP AND RESEARCH AT WESTERN KENTUCKY UNIVERSITY

2 Tracing the Trade Routes of the Slaves

By Carol Cummings

Dr. Johnston A.K. Njoku's interest in tracing slave routes came from studying African American folktales in Kentucky.

6 Fragments of the Past

By Shawntel Ensminger

Dr. Joseph Trafton notes that the Dead Sea Scrolls put us in contact with an enormously turbulent period in Jewish history.

10 History in the Library

By Bob Skipper

"It was fascinating," Jonathan Jeffrey said. "It was like reading someone else's mail from 100 years ago. That is really what clicked me into this whole librarianship thing."

14 Global Human Rights

By Phillip E. Myers and Beth Sewell

As Dr. Sam McFarland studied the genocide and war crimes of the past century, he became committed to understanding and teaching about human rights.

18 Public Schools: Can Competitive Forces Make a Difference?

By Carol Cummings

According to Dr. Mel Borland, a growing body of evidence suggests greater market competition among schools has resulted in higher student academic achievement.

20 Up Front Geology

By Tommy Newton

As environmental geologists, researchers, and concerned citizens, Drs. Ken Kuehn and Mike May aren't the types to just scratch the surface.

23 The Evolution of the Concrete Canoe Team

By Tommy Newton

"This project is not about building a concrete canoe," Dr. Matthew Dettman said, "It's about building engineers."

26 Can You Dig It?

By Beth Sewell

It doesn't matter to Dr. Darlene Applegate if it's digging up bones, fragments of glass, or spear points.

30 Research Briefs

Researching Rubus, Educating EMTs, Battling Bacteria, Evaluating Education, Technology Transfer & Commercialization Committee

About the Cover

Dr. Johnston Njoku's research team surveys and documents the Blue River in Nigeria where slaves were taken to the Atlantic Ocean.
