THE WESTERN SCHOLAR

The Spirit of Scholarship & Research at Western Kentucky University

2 Underworld Explorer

By Mattias Karén

For Alan Glennon, strapping on rappelling gear and climbing into the largest cave system in the world is just another day at the office.

6 Empathy

Based on an interview by Erica Walsh

Jennie Brown collects the experiences of Kentucky women who have overcome tragedy, misfortune, and seemingly insurmountable obstacles to make positive transitions in their lives.

10 World Class Chemistry

By Andrea Uhde

Dr. Wei-Ping Pan's Thermal Analysis Laboratory has been called the best in the United States, if not the world.

14 Information Liaison

By Jacob Bennett

The projects of Dr. Charles H. Smith cover subjects like history of science, classical music education, and biological science.

18 Generation Excess

By Bob Skipper

The title of his book says it all: Dr. Brian Goff suggests that we are "Spoiled Rotten in America."

21 In the Vernacular

By Tommy Newton

"Vernacular architecture" is one of Dr. Michael Ann Williams' main folklore pursuits.

24 Centering on Science

By Tommy Newton

Getting students interested in science is what Dr. Karen Powell and the Community College Regional Science Resource Center are all about.

27 Distinctive Programs

By Caroline Lynch

Dr. Blaine Ferrell's Applied Research and Technology Program was the first to qualify for a $1.2 million state matching grant.
