Proposal to Revise Course Prerequisites
(Consent Item)

Contact Person: Karin Egloff Karin.Egloff@wku.edu 745-5905

1. Identification of course:

- 1.1 Course prefix (subject area) and number: FREN 389
- 1.2 Course title: Internship in French

2. Current prerequisites:

One 300-level French course or the equivalent, and permission of instructor

3. Proposed prerequisites:

FREN 202 or demonstrated proficiency of Intermediate Mid.

4. Rationale for the revision of prerequisites:

The prerequisites are being revised to include proficiency levels. This is being done so that incoming students with a background in the language can be placed properly based on placement test results. The 300-level prerequisite is being removed because the faculty have determined that students who have completed a 202 course are adequately prepared.

5. Effect on completion of major/minor sequence: None

6. Proposed term for implementation: Fall 2018

Proposal to Revise Course Prerequisites/Corequisites
(Consent Item)

Contact Person: Name, email, phone: Mary Wolinski, mary.wolinski@wku.edu, 745-5059

- 1. Identification of course:
 - 1.1 Course prefix (subject area) and number: MUS 327
 - 1.2 Course title: Music History II
- 2. Current prerequisites/corequisites/special requirements: none
- 3. Proposed prerequisites/corequisites/special requirements: Prerequisite: MUS 120 or instructor permission required
- 4. Rationale for the revision of prerequisites/corequisites/special requirements: MUS 327 is a Colonnade Connections course that looks in depth at music of the eighteenth through twentieth centuries and presupposes a basic familiarity with classical music. The course has been offered as a Connections Course, without any prerequisites, since spring 2015 and the department has found that students who do not have a foundational background in music and music history are not as successful in the course. MUS 120, which is a Colonnade Explorations course, introduces general students to classical music through a survey of music from early to modern times, active listening development, concert etiquette, and event reviews. Therefore, MUS 120 provides the foundation for successfully completing MUS 327.
- 5. Effect on completion of major/minor sequence: not applicable
- 6. Proposed term for implementation: First Available
- 7. Dates of prior committee approvals:

Proposal to Create a New Course: MUS 325 Music Entrepreneurism
Potter College of Arts & Letters
Department/Unit: Music

Section 1: Proponent Contact Information

- 1.1 Name/Title: Dr. Ching-Yi Lin, Associate Professor
- 1.2 Email address: ching-yi.lin@wku.edu
- 1.3 Phone #: 5-5939

Section 2: Course Catalog Information

- 2.1 Course prefix (subject area) and number: MUS 325
- 2.2 Course title: Music Entrepreneurism
- 2.3 Abbreviated course title: Music Entrepreneurism
- 2.4 Credit hours/Variable credit: 3
- 2.5 Repeatability: N/A
- 2.6 Course Catalog Description: The practical skills necessary for successfully navigating the business aspects of a professional musician in the 21st-century. Topics range from creating résumés and cover letters to establishing a private teaching studio and booking concerts.
- 2.7 Prerequisite courses: MUS 201
 - 2.7a) Are any of these proposed prerequisites/corequisites offered by a unit other than the one indicated in this proposed course prefix? NO
- 2.8 Additional Enrollment Requirements: N/A
- 2.9 Other Special Course Requirements: N/A

Section 3: Description of proposed course

3.1 Course Content Summary: In addition to the course description, this class will be broken into four large sections:

- I. Defining individual music entrepreneurship
 - a. Teaching or business portfolio
 - b. CV reviews
- II. Online Presence and building a brand
 - a. Website
 - b. Image branding and promotional material
 - c. Networking
- III. Business structures and finances
 - a. Private studio
 - b. Freelancing

c. Finance structure
IV. Transition into the professional world

3.2 Learning Outcomes: Upon successful completion of this course, students should be able to demonstrate...

- the necessary practical skills to expand potential career options in the 21st-century musical marketplace
- and reflect on their individual musical aspirations and work towards finding a niche or specific career interest
- how to recognize new and innovative opportunities in the arts
- how to communicate successfully through different types of social media platforms
- how to work on interpersonal and networking skills
- how to create a website and compile a teaching or business portfolio

3.3 Assessment/Evaluation: Students will be expected to attend class regularly and participate in classroom discussions. Individual projects will be determined in part by each individual student's interests potentially including website design, marketing and advertising materials, and/or a teaching or business portfolio. Grading will be based on content as well as presentation.

Section 4: Rationale

4.1 Reason for developing this proposed course: The business of music has undergone significant changes in the past 25 years, forcing musicians to be increasingly self-sufficient in the 21st-century musical marketplace. In addition to being able to teach and perform at a professional level, musicians must also possess a wide and diverse skill set to be self-employed in today's working environment. Musicians are often required to be their own business manager, marketer, social media expert, financial advisor, and career counselor. While these obstacles can seem overwhelming, with the proper tools and resources students can turn these looming challenges into creative opportunities. This course will not only require students to develop practical skills such as building a website and putting together a CV, but will also encourage them to reflect on their musical interests, find their own artistic identities, and build interpersonal skills that will help them achieve their career goals. The department of music currently does not offer a course that addresses all of these topics.

4.2 Relationship to similar courses offered by other WKU departments/units: This course addresses the specific needs for musicians in becoming 21st-century entrepreneurs.

4.2a) Are there other courses listed in the WKU Undergraduate catalog that present and/or explore content similar to that of this proposed course? If so, please list them here: Entrepreneurial classes are offered in the WKU business school (ENT 312 Entrepreneurship, FIN 441 Entrepreneurial Finance, MKT 427 Entrepreneurial Marketing, and ENT 380 New Venture Business Planning). In addition the Advertising Department offers AD 330 Branding and AD 240 Advertising in the Digital World, which specifically address advertising.

4.2b) Explain how this proposed course is unique in its presentation/exploration of the content it shares with the courses you listed above. What sets this proposal apart from courses already offered at WKU is that this course will deal specifically with the needs of musicians. Specific topics such as building a private music studio/program, recordings and music copyright issues, advocating for contemporary/new music, music management, concert bookings, and freelance opportunities will be discussed in addition to finances, business structures, and taxation issues for musicians.

4.2c) Have the units offering these courses been consulted regarding this proposal?

YES

Section 5: Projected Enrollments/Resources

5.1 Enrollments: Students per section? 10-15

5.2 Enrollments: Sections per academic year? 1 every two years

5.3 Enrollments: Students per academic year? 10-15 every two years

5.4 Supporting evidence/data for these projection: Based on current enrollment in the BA Music Degree Program and BM in Music Performance. The course would be an elective option for both of those programs.

5.5 Proposed method of staffing: Will additional staff be required in order to offer this course according to the enrollment projections indicated in item 5.1-3? NO

5.6 Instructional technology resources: Are the unit's current instructional technology resources sufficient to support this course? YES

5.7 Library resources: Will this proposed course require the use of library resources (books, journals, reference materials, audio-visual materials, electronic databases, etc.)? NO

Section 6: Proposed term for implementation: next available spring semester

Proposal to Create a New Course: MUS 377 Pep Band
Potter College of Arts & Letters
Department/Unit: Music

Section 1: Proponent Contact Information

- 1.1 Name/Title: Scott Harris, Head
- 1.2 Email address: scott.harris@wku.edu
- 1.3 Phone #: 270-745-3751

Section 2: Course Catalog Information

- 2.1 Course prefix (subject area) and number: MUS 377

- 2.2 Course title: Pep Band

- 2.3 Abbreviated course title: Pep Band

- 2.4 Credit hours/Variable credit: 1

- 2.5 Repeatability: Yes, repeatable throughout a student's college career

- 2.6 Course Catalog Description: Performing ensembles are open to the entire campus community. Most ensembles require an audition prior to membership, and there are varying levels of performance difficulty.

- 2.7 Prerequisite/Corequisite courses: n/a

- 2.8 Additional Enrollment Requirements: n/a

- 2.9 Other Special Course Requirements: n/a

Section 3: Description of proposed course

- 3.1 Course Content Summary: Students enrolled will rehearse as an ensemble once each week and perform regularly at men's and women's basketball games during the spring semester. Repertoire will be chosen by the instructor in consideration of musical artistry, student ability and development, stylistic diversity, as well as appropriateness for athletic events.

- 3.2 Learning Outcomes:
 - Upon successful completion of this course, students should be able to demonstrate satisfactory performance of the selected repertoire.
 - Upon successful completion of this course, students should be able to demonstrate the ability to communicate musically and work together with and without a conductor in both rehearsal and performance.

- 3.3 Assessment/Evaluation: Successful performance(s) of the selected repertoire.

Section 4: Rationale

- 4.1 Reason for developing this proposed course: Pep Band has existed at WKU for many years as a section of “MUS 348 Band”. The department is currently reconfiguring the ensemble course numbers to better reflect and align degree required verses non-degree required performance ensembles. The Pep Band is a non-degree required ensemble that also engages many non-music major students. A specific course number for this ensemble aligns it with other non-degree required performance ensembles (jazz ensemble, chamber music, chamber choirs) as well as our other offerings in the band area.
- 4.2 Relationship to similar courses offered by other WKU departments/units:
- 4.2a) Are there other courses listed in the WKU Undergraduate catalog that present and/or explore content similar to that of this proposed course? Other music non-degree required performance ensembles include MUS 371 Jazz Ensemble and MUS 374 Opera Theatre. However, these other courses/ensembles perform significantly different repertoire and musical styles.
- 4.2b) Explain how this proposed course is unique in its presentation/exploration of the content it shares with the courses you listed above. Pep Band is specific for the service/performance needs associated with men’s and women’s basketball. The repertoire is appropriate for those venues/functions where it is generally not appropriate for the other courses noted above.
- 4.2c) Have the units offering these courses been consulted regarding this proposal? YES

Section 5: Projected Enrollments/Resources

5.1 Enrollments: Students per section? 45-65

5.2 Enrollments: Sections per academic year? 1

5.3 Enrollments: Students per academic year? 45-65

5.4 Supporting evidence/data for these projection: Pep Band enrollment:

Spring 2016 – 45; Spring 2017 – 62

5.5 Proposed method of staffing: Will additional staff be required in order to offer this course according to the enrollment projections indicated in item 5.1-3? NO

5.6 Instructional technology resources: Are the unit’s current instructional technology resources sufficient to support this course? YES

5.7 Library resources: Will this proposed course require the use of library resources (books, journals, reference materials, audio-visual materials, electronic databases, etc.)? NO

- 2.7 Prerequisite/Corequisite courses: n/a
- 2.8 Additional Enrollment Requirements: n/a
- 2.9 Other Special Course Requirements: n/a

Section 3: Description of proposed course

- 3.1 Course Content Summary: Students enrolled will rehearse as an ensemble once each week and perform at least one concert in the spring semester. Repertoire will be chosen by the instructor in consideration of musical artistry, student ability and development, as well as stylistic diversity. This ensemble will specifically fill an instrumental need for music majors on secondary instruments, non-music majors across campus, and members of the local community.
- 3.2 Learning Outcomes:
 - Upon successful completion of this course, students should be able to demonstrate satisfactory performance of the selected repertoire.
 - Upon successful completion of this course, students should be able to demonstrate the ability to communicate musically and work together with a conductor in both rehearsal and performance.

3.3 Assessment/Evaluation: Successful performance(s) of the selected repertoire.

Section 4: Rationale

- 4.1 Reason for developing this proposed course: The Campus Community Band has existed at WKU for two years as a section of “MUS 348 Band”. The department is currently reconfiguring the ensemble course numbers to better reflect and align degree required verses non-degree required performance ensembles. The Campus Band is a non-degree required ensemble that also engages many non-music major students. However, these other courses/ensembles perform significantly different repertoire and musical styles.
- 4.2b) Explain how this proposed course is unique in its presentation/exploration of the content it shares with the courses you listed above. The Campus Band is a concert wind and percussion ensemble (band) that requires specific repertoire not associated with the other courses noted above. It will also serve as a vehicle for student conductors where the other ensembles do not generally use a conductor.
- 4.2c) Have the units offering these courses been consulted regarding this proposal? YES

2.5a) Are any of these proposed prerequisites/corequisites offered by a unit other than the one indicated in this proposed course prefix?

N/A

2.5b) If not, proceed to item 2.6. If so, has the department head of that unit been consulted?

N/A

- 2.17 Additional Enrollment Requirements: N/A
- 2.18 Other Special Course Requirements: N/A

Section 3: Description of proposed course

- 3.1 Course Content Summary:

This course is organized around the notion that to understand the systems in which administrators work and to apply the skills of public administration, it is essential to comprehend the dynamics and the context of public administration in a constitutional democracy. As implementers of public policy, public administrators play an important role in maintaining the relationship between citizens and the state.

The fit between public administration and democracy has never been comfortable. The quest for efficient and effective administration of public programs takes place in an environment characterized by lively deliberations over policy objectives, clashing philosophies, citizen participation, the role of equity, and demands for accountability. This course provides an overview of the approaches to public administration that have developed over roughly the last century in the United States. As efforts to reconcile public administration with democratic processes have evolved, so too have the skills of administrators and the systems within which they work.

3.2 Learning Outcomes: “Upon successful completion of this course, students should be able to:”

- Identify and explain the theoretical foundations of the field of public administration.
- Describe and explain the nature and development of public administration as an academic discipline and field of practice in the United States.
- Analyze competing conceptual frames of public service in the United States.

3.3 Assessment/Evaluation:

We will examine the changing approaches to administration and the implications for practice through course readings, writing assignments, case analysis, in-class exercises and discussions, and examinations.

Section 4: Rationale

4.1 Reason for developing this proposed course:

Public Administration is a multidisciplinary field that explores such areas as organizational structures, personnel and financial management, control and accountability, and ethical issues. This course will serve as a survey of the field for students interested in exploring the theoretical and practical issues related to the administration of public programs, policies, and organizations. The course will expose students to many of the challenges and opportunities of public sector careers as well as help identify students who may be interested in the recently created JUMP MPA program.

4.2 Relationship to similar courses offered by other WKU departments/units:

- 4.2a) Are there other courses listed in the WKU Undergraduate catalog that present and/or explore content similar to that of this proposed course? If so, please list them here, and complete items 4.2b and 4.2c below. If not, simply indicate so with N/A proceed to item 5: Projected Enrollments/Resources

- PS 304: State Government
- PS 311: Public Policy
- PS 338: Government and Ethics

4.2b) Explain how this proposed course is unique in its presentation/exploration of the content it shares with the courses you listed above.

The courses listed above explore specific subjects within the broader field of public administration. None of these courses offers a survey of different topics within the field of public administration no do they specifically address administration's role in governance.

4.2c) Have the units offering these courses been consulted regarding this proposal?

YES

Section 5: Projected Enrollments/Resources

5.1 Enrollments: 20-30

5.2 Enrollments: Sections per academic year? 1

5.3 Enrollments: Students per academic year? 20-30

5.4 Supporting evidence/data for these projection:

Similar courses offered in the department regularly enroll between 20-30 students per year. There is no reason to expect different enrollment numbers for this course.

5.5 Proposed method of staffing: Will additional staff be required in order to offer this course according to the enrollment projections indicated in item 5.1-3?

NO

If YES, what actions are being undertaken to secure the necessary additional personnel?
If current staffing is sufficient, explain any adjustments to current staffing patterns/teaching loads –if any- needed to accommodate this new course.

5.8 Instructional technology resources: Are the unit's current instructional technology resources sufficient to support this course?

YES

If NO, what additional resources are needed, and what actions are being undertaken to upgrade those resources?

5.9 Library resources: Will this proposed course require the use of library resources (books, journals, reference materials, audio-visual materials, electronic databases, etc.)?

YES

If YES, is a completed Library Resources Form appended to this proposal?

YES

4. Rationale

- Reducing required hours in the studio and graphic design concentrations aids in timely matriculation through the program, in line with current Commonwealth and University goals, and better matches our benchmark and regional competitor institutions, thus increasing attractiveness of our program to students.
- The department emphasizes drawing more than most programs, therefore editing ART 440 Drawing is not detrimental to our majors.
- A reduction of upper level hours within the BFA studio emphasis will increase the efficacy of our program by cleaning up structural duplication and clarifying consistent expectations. Currently students typically “double-up” on upper level courses three times within the program (taken simultaneously), making the perceived objective about numbers over experience. Shifting to doubling-up only once, in their final semester as they near graduation and their thesis exhibitions, will emphasize and maximize student focus. Overall, this reduction in course hours will improve the quality of our program and enhance our primary objective – to guide students toward the development of their individual, professional studio practices.
- The Studio program’s current emphasis on studies in a single medium is overly restrictive. Providing students an ability to merge studio interests in more than one medium acknowledges current practices in the contemporary field of visual arts, where hybrid use of mediums is commonplace.
- Adding two newer art history courses to the menu of upper level art history is an overdue housekeeping gesture.

Proposal to Create a New Course: HMD 201 Introduction to Dietetics

College: Health and Human Services

Department: Applied Human Sciences

Section 1: Proponent Contact Information

1.1 Name/Title: Dr. Karen Mason, Associate Professor

1.2 Email address: karen.mason@wku.edu

1.3 Phone #: 270-745-3462

Section 2: Course Catalog Information

2.19 Course prefix and number: HMD 201

2.20 Course title: Introduction to Dietetics

2.21 Abbreviated course title: Intro to Dietetics

2.22 Credit hours/Variable credit: 1 hour

2.23 Repeatability: N/A

2.24 Course Catalog Description: Introduction to dietetics including academic and professional preparation.

2.25 Prerequisite/Corequisite courses: None

2.26 Additional Enrollment Requirements: N/A

2.27 Other Special Course Requirements: N/A

Section 3: Description of proposed course

3.1 Course Content Summary: The subject matter for this course will include:

- Introduction to the Nutrition & Dietetics program (lecture and introduction of faculty)
- Exploration of careers in dietetics (lecture, guest speaker, shadowing hours, and discussion)
- Dietetic internships (lecture, guest speaker, online review of available internships)
- Resume writing (lecture, complete/submit a resume)
- Professionalism and communication in dietetics (lecture, guest speaker)
- Ethics in dietetics (lecture and case studies)
- Career leadership for dietetics professionals (lecture, discussion)

3.2 Learning Outcomes: Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Describe the process of earning and maintaining the RDN credential
2. Explore career opportunities in the dietetics profession
3. Prepare a professional resume
4. Demonstrate professionalism in communication and social networking
5. Identify leadership opportunities in dietetics

3.3 Assessment/Evaluation:

Learning objective	Assessment/Evaluation
Describe the process of earning and maintaining the RDN credential	Assignment
Explore career opportunities in the dietetics profession	Shadowing/volunteer hours
Prepare a professional resume	Resume
Demonstrate professionalism in communication and social networking	Digital portfolio
Identify leadership opportunities in dietetics	Assignment

Section 4: Rationale

- 4.1 Reason for developing this proposed course: The addition of this course would enable students considering dietetics as a career to make an informed decision early in their academic endeavors. Currently, academic and professional preparation for students contemplating dietetics occurs during advising sessions and through introductory group advising sessions offered every semester by Nutrition & Dietetics faculty. In addition, offering an introductory dietetics course is common practice among universities with Dietetics programs. For example, 13 of WKU's benchmark institutions have dietetics programs, and eight of those programs have an introduction to dietetics course. Three Kentucky universities have dietetics programs (Murray, UK, and ECU) and all three have an introduction to dietetics course.
- 4.2 Relationship to similar courses offered by other WKU departments/units: It is common to have an introductory level course for majors, especially in the College of Health & Human Services. In fact, the following introductory courses are offered in CHHS: DH 100 Intro to Dental Hygiene, CD 280 Intro to CSD, EXS 223 Intro to Exercise Science, HMD 171 Intro to Management in the Hospitality Industry, REC 200 Intro to Recreation, NURS 102 Intro to Professional Nursing, and SWRK 205 Intro to Social Work. The course proposed would prepare students for admission/completion of the accredited Nutrition & Dietetics program and professional preparation, and no other course at WKU specifically addresses that.

Section 5: Projected Enrollments/Resources

5.1 Enrollments: Students per section? 35 students/section (see 5.4 for rationale)

5.2 Enrollments: Sections per academic year? One section/year

5.3 Enrollments: Students per academic year? 35 students/year (see 5.4 for rationale)

5.4 Supporting evidence/data for these projection: The Nutrition & Dietetics program graduates approximately 20-25 students per year. However, more students typically start the program and decide to switch majors or do not meet the admission criteria for entrance into the Nutrition & Dietetics program. Thus, more students will likely take the introductory course without applying to the program. In addition, ECU offers a similar course and their course typically has 35-40 students per year, with approximately 30 students continuing into the major.

5.5 Proposed method of staffing: No additional staff will be required to offer this course. One of the HMD electives will be offered less often (only once per year) to accommodate the proposed course.

5.6 Instructional technology resources: Current instructional technology resources are sufficient to support this course.

5.10 Library resources: This course will not require the use of WKU's library resources.

Proposal to Create a New Course: HMD 340 Nutrition Assessment

College: College of Health and Human Services

Department/Unit: Applied Human Sciences

Section 1: Proponent Contact Information

1.1 Name/Title: Heather Payne-Emerson, Assistant Professor

1.2 Email address: heather.payne-emerson@wku.edu

1.3 Phone #: 5-6356

Section 2: Course Catalog Information

2.1 Course prefix (subject area) and number: HMD 340

2.2 Course title: Nutrition Assessment

2.3 Abbreviated course title: Nutrition Assessment

2.4 Credit hours/Variable credit: 3

2.5 Repeatability: N/A

2.6 Course Catalog Description: Application of dietary, anthropometric and biochemical assessment methods for the determination of nutrition status. Includes utilization of the Nutrition Care Process.

2.7 Prerequisite/Corequisite courses: Co-requisite of HMD 361 Life Stage Nutrition

2.7a) Are any of these proposed prerequisites/corequisites offered by a unit other than the one indicated in this proposed course prefix? No

2.8 Additional Enrollment Requirements: N/A

2.9 Other Special Course Requirements: A portion of class time will be dedicated to hands-on application of assessment techniques. Nutrition assessment equipment will be utilized.

Section 3: Description of proposed course

3.1 Course Content Summary: The subject matter for this course will include:

- Nutrition Care Process (lecture, case studies)
- Nutrient needs assessment (lecture, case studies)
- Dietary assessment (lecture, simulations, role play)
- Biochemical assessment (lecture, case studies)

- Anthropometric assessment (lecture, hands-on application)
- Physical indicators of nutrition status (lecture, demonstration, simulations)

3.2 Learning Outcomes: Upon successful completion of this course, students should be able to

- Apply the Nutrition Care Process to case study patients.
- Write problem, etiology and signs/symptoms statements using the Electronic Nutrition Care Process and Terminology Manual.
- Use nutrition assessment equipment to determine anthropometric measurements and body composition.
- Calculate energy, protein and fluid needs.
- Explain and identify physical indicators of nutrition status.
- Analyze biochemical indicators reflective of disease states, hydration status, micronutrient deficiencies, malnutrition and inflammation.

3.3 Assessment/Evaluation: Achievement of the above learning outcomes will be evaluated by exams, case studies and hands-on in-class activities.

Section 4: Rationale

4.1 Reason for developing this proposed course: The Accreditation Council for Education in Nutrition & Dietetics requires the curriculum include principles of nutrition assessment. This content is currently integrated into another HMD course, however, in the most recent accreditation site visit, the reviewers strongly recommended developing a course focused on nutrition assessment.

4.2 Relationship to similar courses offered by other WKU departments/units:

4.2a) Are there other courses listed in the WKU Undergraduate catalog that present and/or explore content similar to that of this proposed course?

PH 390 Wellness and Fitness Assessment
NURS 335 Health Assessment

4.2b) Explain how this proposed course is unique in its presentation/exploration of the content it shares with the courses you listed above.

The above courses address content related to the proposed course, but none of them addresses assessment techniques specific to Dietetics, including physical and biochemical indicators of nutrition status; assessment of energy and protein requirements; assessment of food and nutrition-related history; and the Nutrition Care Process.

4.2c) Have the units offering these courses been consulted regarding this proposal?

Yes

Section 5: Projected Enrollments/Resources

5.1 Enrollments: Students per section? 20, See section 5.4 for rationale.

5.2 Enrollments: Sections per academic year? 1

5.3 Enrollments: Students per academic year? 20, See section 5.4 for rationale.

5.4 Supporting evidence/data for these projection: The projected enrollment is based on the average class size of upper division Nutrition & Dietetics courses over the last three years (18 students per course on average).

5.5 Proposed method of staffing: No additional staff will be required. Another HMD course will be offered less often (once per year) to accommodate the proposed course.

5.6 Instructional technology resources: Equipment for the performance of nutrition assessment will be required. The Department will cover the costs through Foundation funds.

5.11 Library resources: The proposed course will require the use of library resources. A completed Library Resources Form is appended to this proposal.

4. Rationale for the proposed program change:

This change is being proposed to add SWRK 357 Case Management as a core required course in the BSW Program. It is currently offered as an elective. Many BSW graduates work in the field as case managers or service coordinators. This course has been approved and has been offered during Winter term sessions. The feedback from students has been very positive and many have stated they think this class has helped prepare them for practice and that every BSW student should take it. We will replace SWRK 344 with SWRK 357 in the core curriculum. However, a statistics class will still be required as an additional course required for the major. As a result, we are changing our pre-requisite from college algebra to one of the following statistics courses: SWRK 344 (which we will offer in the summer), SOCL 300, PYS/PSYS 313, PH 383, MATH 183, and STA 220 from KCTCS (to accommodate the regional campus students). This course must be completed by the end of the first semester in the major. We are also adding AFAM 190 as an Advisor Consent Elective. This course was previously approved but is no longer listed on ICAP.

4. Rationale for the proposed program change:

- Changes to catalog description:
 - Registered Dietitian is now Registered Dietitian Nutritionist, per national accreditation
 - Correction of the departmental web address, due to change of departmental name
- Changes to the core courses for the Hospitality Management and Dietetics major:

- Deletion of the FACS 311 Family Relations course, with the addition of an option to take an ethics course of either IDFM 321 Professional Ethics and Issues Seminar or FACS 312 Professional Ethics for Family Life. There was a demonstrated need for the students to have an ethics course in the curriculum, and this maintains a departmental core course.
- Deletion of MGT 210 Introductory Management, as the HMD 452 Quality Service Management includes basic management principles as in MGT 210, making it redundant.
- Deletion of ACCT 200 Introductory Accounting from the major, with movement to the Nutrition & Dietetics and Food, Nutrition & Wellness concentrations. The course is no longer deemed necessary for the successful completion of advanced hospitality courses.
- Adjustment of hours required in the core curriculum for the major from 35 to 32
- Changes to the catalog description to reflect these changes
- Changes to the Hotel, Restaurant, Tourism Management concentration:
 - Deletion of HMD 313 Practicum in Hospitality Management, as it is redundant in the major, as HMD 410 Internship in Hospitality Management is a second and longer required internship in the major.
 - Adjustment of hours required in the core curriculum for the concentration in the catalog description
- Changes to the catalog description for the Nutrition and Dietetics concentration includes:
 - Deletion of two designated electives from the list, since they are no longer offered. HMD 170 International Cuisine has been deleted effective Fall 2017, and BIOL 344 has not been offered since spring of 2009.
 - Change of the required math course from Math 116 to Math 183, as the new Accreditation Council for Education in Nutrition and Dietetics (ACEND) requirements specify a statistics content to maintain accreditation
 - Deletion of Math 183 from the designated electives
 - Movement of ACCT 200 from the general major core courses to this concentration specifically
 - Addition of two new courses to the major requirements: HMD 201 Introduction to Dietetics and HMD 340 Nutrition Assessment to provide additional and more detailed content in accordance with the requirements for the Accreditation Council for Education in Nutrition and Dietetics (ACEND) accreditation.
 - Adjustment of the hours required in the core curriculum for the concentration in the catalog description
- Changes to the Food, Nutrition and Wellness concentration include:
 - Deletion of HMD 462 Medical Nutrition Therapy II as this course contains advanced nutrition content more relevant for those pursuing the nutrition and dietetics concentration and subsequent career path to become a Registered Dietitian Nutritionist. A survey of graduates with the food, nutrition, and wellness concentration indicates they are not working in careers that utilize this information, and would benefit from a variety of designated electives instead.
 - Movement of ACCT 200 from the general major core courses to this concentration specifically

- 4. Rationale for the revision of prerequisites/corequisites/special requirements: This course is required for all majors in the Department of Geography and Geology, so students should have adequate lower-division geoscience Colonnade course preparation before taking this upper-level course. Writing in the Geosciences requires a basic understanding of geoscience principles, in addition to the fundamentals of grammar and syntax taught in ENG 100.

2. Current course catalog listing:

A study of principles and common features of imperative and functional programming languages. Topics include syntax, semantics, names, binding, type checking, scope, overloading, and data abstraction.

3. Proposed course catalog listing:

(aim for 25 words or less)

A study of principles and common features of programming languages. Topics include syntax, semantics, binding, scope, overloading, finite automata, formal languages, etc.

4. Rationale for revision of the course catalog listing:

Finite automata and formal languages are removed from CS 339. CS 382 is a better course to cover these topics since they tie in well with the overall topics of the course.

1. Identification of program:

- 1.1 Current program reference number: 508
- 1.2 Current program title: Major in Agriculture – Agribusiness concentration
- 1.3 Credit hours: 50

2. Identification of the proposed program changes:

- In subcategory 2, replace ACCT 200 with AGECE 261
- In subcategory 3, add AGECE 471, AGECE 391, and AGECE 475.

3. Detailed program description:

Old iCap	Revisions
1. Take the following required basic agriculture courses: Needs: 29.00 Hours Select from: AGRO 110 AGMC 170 AGMC 171 AGMC 176 AGRI 175 ANSC 140 AGECE 160 AGRI 291 or AGRI 491 AGRO 320 or ANSC 345 or AGECE 360 or AGMC 326 AGRO 350 AGRI 397 AGRI 398 AGRI 494	1. Take the following required agriculture courses: Select 29 hours from: AGRO 110 AGMC 170 AGMC 171 AGMC 176 AGRI 175 ANSC 140 AGECE 160 AGRI 291 or AGRI 491 AGRO 320 or ANSC 345 or AGECE 360 or AGMC 326 AGRO 350 AGRI 397 AGRI 398 AGRI 494

2. Take the following courses for the Agri-Business concentration Needs: 18.00 Hours Select From: ACCT 200 MGT 210 MKT 220 AGEC 361 AGEC 362 AGEC 463	2. The following courses (18 hours) are required: AGEC 261 MGT 210 MKT 220 AGEC 361 AGEC 362 AGEC 463

4. Rationale for the proposed program change:

- AGECE 261 (Agricultural Accounting) is taught following the Financial Guidelines for Agricultural Producers. The Farm Financial Standards Council developed these guidelines specifically for agricultural producers. Students in AGECE 261 learn accounting techniques to analyze farm/ranch transactions and accounts, make journal entries, posting, and make financial statements that better reflect farm/ranch financial transactions. Therefore, it is a better fit for agriculture students than is ACCT 200.
- AGECE 471 (Agribusiness Entrepreneurial System) was recently created to give students an opportunity to enhance their entrepreneurship skills in the agriculture industry. Two other appropriate courses, AGECE 391 (Survey of Commodities Futures and Options) and AGECE 475 (Special Topics in Agriculture Economics) are in the catalogue of courses, but not currently listed in the iCap system.

5. Proposed term for implementation and special provisions (if applicable): Fall 2018

Grades of "C" or better in both CS 221 and MATH 136
- 4.3 Rationale for revision of course prerequisites:
A small percentage of the topics in PHIL 215 is needed as prerequisite of CS 339. These topics will be covered in CS 339 in the future, due to an internal restructuring to focus on theoretical support for computer science.
- 4.4 Effect on completion of major/minor sequence:
No

5. Revise course catalog listing:

Finite and discrete structures, including basic proof techniques, algorithm analysis, graph concepts and algorithms, and introductions to finite state machine and formal languages, with their applications in computer science.
- 5.5 Proposed course catalog listing:

Finite and discrete structures, including basic proof techniques, algorithm analysis, graph concepts and algorithms, with their applications in computer science.

- 5.6 Rationale for revision of course catalog listing:
Due to internal rearrangement of course content, more time is needed for basic proof techniques in CS 339. Finite state machine and formal languages will be covered in CS 382.

(Action Item)

Identification of proposed policy revision:

1. Catalog statement of existing policy:

WKU Undergraduate Catalog 2017-18 (page 57):

A baccalaureate degree requires a minimum of 120 unduplicated semester hours, according to one of the following options:

- Students with a major that is 48 hours or more are not required to declare a second major or minor, unless specified by the department.
- Students with a major below 48 hours, must select a second major or minor. Students who select a major and minor combination must have 54 hours total between the major and minor and 48 hours unduplicated.
- Students pursuing the Bachelor of Interdisciplinary Studies are required to select an emphasis of study and may also select a minor. No hours may be duplicated between the emphasis and minor.

2. Catalog Statement of proposed policy (bolded information change):

A baccalaureate degree requires a minimum of 120 unduplicated semester hours, according to one of the following options:

- Students with a major that is 48 hours or more are not required to declare a second major or minor, unless specified by the department.
- Students with a major below 48 hours, must select a second major or minor. Students who select a major and minor combination must have 54 hours total between the major and minor and 48 hours unduplicated.
- Students pursuing the Bachelor of Interdisciplinary Studies are required to select an emphasis of study and may also select a minor. No hours may be duplicated between the emphasis and minor.
- A certificate of 12 or more semester credit hours may substitute for “minor” in all the above.

3. Rationale for proposed policy revision:

For many reasons, including the policies of state government and demand from industry, certificates are becoming an increasingly popular way of aggregating classes; there is no bright line between “certificate” and “minor”. As a result, it was agreed that the equivalency of the two should be recognized. On the other hand, there is some concern that the possibility of certificates comprising as few as 6 – or even 3 – credit hours, while applicable for some specialized skillsets, violates the spirit of a true area of concentration. As a result, the lower limit of 12 hours is proposed when a certificate substitutes for a minor.

4. Impact of proposed policy revision on existing academic or non-academic policies:

- 4.1 Impact on policies: none
- 4.2 Impact on populations that may be affected: none

5. Proposed term for implementation: Fall 2018

1. Identification of proposed policy revision: The lack of a normal minimum duration of a certificate, and a minor.

2. Catalog statement of existing policy:

Catalog, p. 57:

Approved majors and minors are listed on the following pages. Any specific admission or course requirements may be found in the college or departmental section of this catalog.

Certificate Programs-Western Kentucky University offers a variety of short-term programs that lead to a certificate in a specialty area. The list of certificate programs can be found near the end of the following chart.

3. Catalog statement of proposed policy:

A minor is a secondary course of study as defined by the CPE (previous page). The minimum duration of a minor varies, but may not be less than 18 semester credit hours. Approved majors and minors are listed on the following pages. Any specific admission or course requirements may be found in the college or departmental section of this catalog.

Certificate Programs-Western Kentucky University offers a variety of short-term programs that lead to a certificate in a specialty area. Certificates typically comprise at least twelve semester credit hours. Exceptions to this minimum may be granted only where a circumscribed body of expertise with the potential to materially affect employability may be covered in fewer than 12 semester credit hours. The list of certificate programs can be found near the end of the following chart.

4. Rationale for proposed policy revision:

There may be a proliferation of certificate programs, and without a “normal lower limit” for the scope of a certificate, we believe that significant risk exists that “certificate” could become a meaningless concept.

5. Impact of proposed policy revision on existing academic or non-academic policies:

5.1 Impact on policies: None

5.2 Impact on populations that may be affected: None

6. Proposed term for implementation: First available.
